At the core of everything we do is a single idea: belonging.

Sometimes it's obvious...a family gathered in a field, kids piled on top of each other, a couple on their wedding day. Other times it's subtle...an entrepreneur just starting out, or a senior leaving one chapter behind.

We all move through life looking for the places where we most belong. It's not easy. It's not consistent. And maybe that's exactly what makes it matter so much.

Belonging drives me to pick up a camera and pay close attention to the people in front of me. To notice the moment a dad relaxes into the family chaos instead of standing apart from it. The moment a business owner stops performing for the lens and starts just being themselves. The moment a family stops worrying about their outfits and starts being a family again.

I'm Joe Valley, a portrait and wedding photographer based in Longmont, Colorado. I work with families, seniors, couples, and entrepreneurs across the Front Range. I came to Colorado from somewhere else, and I stayed, which feels like its own kind of belonging.

"If you've been putting off the photos — I'd love to be the one who makes you feel like you belong in front of a camera."

— Joe Valley

We'll walk through all the details of how to make the most of your images.

Albums

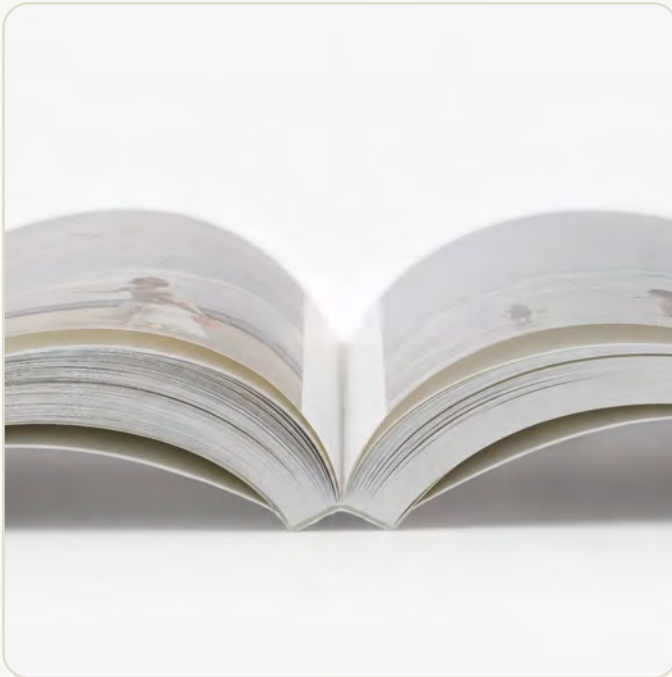

Make the memories last in a book.

The Keepsake Book

$200

(up to 24 pages included)

A soft, magazine-style softcover book, personally selected and designed by Joe. Want more room for your story? Additional pages are $5 each (added two at a time), covering both printing and the extra design time to lay them out beautifully.

The Legacy Album

$425

(up to 12 pages included)

A handcrafted, premium lay-flat album — thick pages, real materials, built to last generations. Additional pages are $13 each (added two at a time), covering both premium lay-flat printing and the extra design time each spread requires.

Guide with expertise

We have spent years learning what prints beautifully at what size, which paper finishes feel heirloom, and how to design a wall grouping that looks intentional. You benefit from all of that research. Expert curation. No guesswork required.

Wall art + print packages

All packages include professional framing + matting. Printed at WHCC — the standard for portrait labs. Your digital gallery is already yours. These are just what ends up on your walls.

* All package frames are matted and done in “Woodland Natural,” which is a light wood in maple or similar.

Questions we hear all the time

Where do you shoot?

Anywhere that feels like you. We'll talk through your favorite spots — a park near your home, a trail, downtown Longmont. We know the Front Range well and have suggestions for every season.

How long until we see our photos?

Your gallery is delivered within 7–14 days of your session — no appointment needed, ready to view and download right away. Want guidance on what to print? A free 20-minute reveal call is available anytime.

What if the weather doesn't cooperate?

We reschedule at no charge. We'd rather wait for the right light than rush through the wrong conditions. Colorado weather is part of the adventure — and sometimes the magic.

Can we book just headshots or corporate photos?

Yes — Joe also works with entrepreneurs, small business, owners, and teams under his Joe Valley Photo brand. The same approach applies: understand first, guide with expertise.

What should we wear?

We'll cover this on your pre-session call. The short version: coordinate, don't match. Layers and textures photograph beautifully. Avoid large logos. We'll send a style guide after you book.

Do we get digital files?

Yes — every session includes your full gallery at both screen and print resolution, ready to download and use however you'd like. No separate purchase, no unlock fee.

How far in advance should we book?

Golden hour sessions in fall book up fast — sometimes 6–8 weeks out. Spring and summer have more flexibility. The sooner you reach out, the more options we'll have for you.

Do you do weddings?

Yes! Elopements, intimate weddings, and full-day coverage across the Front Range. Find out all the details on the Tiny Pine website. Just look for weddings.
